17. Inappropriate, defamatory, racist or offensive entries will be deemed invalid and excluded from the Prize.

18. UNSW Sydney reserves the right, at any time, to verify the validity of entries and the eligibility of entrants and to disqualify any entrant who does not meet the eligibility criteria set out in this paragraph 2 or who submits an entry that is not in accordance with these Conditions.

19. All decisions about the eligibility of entrants and the validity of entries made by UNSW Sydney will be final, and no correspondence will be entered into.

20. Any person who has been nominated for the Prize may choose whether to accept the nomination.

21. Any person previously nominated for the Prize can be nominated again, with exception of previous finalists.

Judging

22. Chance plays no part in determining the winner of the Prize.

23. The winning nominee will be decided by a panel of judges comprising the Australian Mental Health Prize Advisory Group.

24. The panel of judges shall select up to 6 finalists and determine which finalist shall be the winner of the Prize.

25. Selection of the winning entry will be based on the panel's assessment of outstanding contribution to either:

25.1. the promotion of mental health; or

25.2. the prevention or treatment of mental illness, in areas such as advocacy, research or service provision.

26. The prize will recognise contributions undertaken in Australia which are of national significance.

27. The panel of judges' decision is final and no correspondence will be entered into.

28. All discussions and deliberations of the judging of the Prize will be strictly confidential.

29. The names of the finalists and the winner of the Prize will not be made public until each person has accepted their nomination for the Prize and selection as a finalist in writing.

30. All potential finalists must to agree to their individual announcement as a finalist before the public announcement of the finalists and winner.
